The December meeting was our Annual Christmas Dinner held at the Bella Milano Restaurant. The piano player began playing the old songs from the 1960's that everyone seemed to enjoy and continued to play throughout the dinner. We ate in a spacious room usually reserved for a group twice our size. The menu provided a selection of six popular choices, all cooked to perfection. Many compliments were heard on the quality of the meals.

Our significant others were given the opportunity to select a gift provided by the members. The members of the club received a gift card from Menards or Lowes. Business discussion was held to a minimum. It was a very successful dinner meeting and most members gave the restaurant high compliments on the food and the service.

Some final thoughts by your editor: This is my final newsletter. I have enjoyed the opportunity to write about our activities the last four years. Although it's taken a few hours each month to write each paper, the rewards are significant. I have a much better understanding and appreciation of woodworking. The old saying is true: if you write about something, you'll remember, understand and appreciate it much more.
